I UCK and the courage to back it make good statements. It is always difficult to tell how much of Government is foresight and how much the desire to make a good chance. Something of this must have been in Sir Winston Churchill's mind when he told the House of Commons last week that some of the great international questions have a way of settling themselves if given time and encouragement. It would be an exaggeration to say that the two outstanding Middle East questions, Persia and Egypt, have been left to make their own way. But it is true that the British Government has done better at it than was done by the Governments and negotiators of the initial crisis. It is a fact, however, that chance has been active in both cases and has brought Persia's oil and Egypt's treaty dispute with Britain into an atmosphere where the negotiators today have a fair chance of final settlement.

THE Ekedat soup in Persia, the shift in the Middle East regional balance caused by Iran's independent policies, and in Egypt itself, the separation of the Egyptian national, in the person of General Nasser, from the British Empire, are the whole in the Middle East. In the person of General Nasser, the British Government has been essential for the reversal of the balance between Britain and Egypt. At any rate, the British Government now considers conditions in Cairo to be stable enough to make negotiations worthwhile and to give to any possible agreement that may be reached a good chance of being implemented. The talks were resumed on July 10, and since then, even the Egyptian press has been optimistic.

THE terms of the new British proposals have not been published. Governments more and more and everywhere are leaning back towards the "secret diplomacy" of an older and perhaps wiser day. But there seems little doubt that the Conservative "Daily Telegraph" of July 1 had the three main points of the British plan right, although the plan was not given to Colonel Nasser by the Ambassador, Sir Ralph Buxton, until July 12. The three main points are stated to be: complete evacuation of British troops in stages, possibly over the next two years; maintenance of British troops in the Sinai Peninsula; and the provision of non-uniformed technicians, who, apparently, would be provided by commercial air companies; "rehabilitation of the Sinai" in the event of Turkey being attacked by an aggressor. This last point could, no doubt, be hedged about with qualifications, but in one form or another Egypt will probably have to accept it, less as part of the price for British evacuation than as a condition for return for U.S. monetary and military assistance, which Colonel Nasser and his more responsible colleagues feel to be indispensable for their wide development and social reform plans.

WHILE it is fairly obvious that the Egyptian mind is in a more reasonable mood than they were last autumn, it is also obvious that the British Government has lost its former, in present world circumstances, any possibility of their remaining on the Canal against the wishes of the Government and people of Egypt. The forty Conservative diehards who oppose a settlement, ignore both this simple fact and the equally relevant fact that the treaty, as it stands, is a unilateral repudiation by Egypt, has just about come to its allotted end anyway, and that thereafter British diehards, neither legal nor moral right to bolster up a case for remaining where she is not wanted. A virtue is therefore being done by necessity. The principle of withdrawal has been accepted by Britain and there remains only the question of how and how speedily. A leisurely long-drawn-out evacuation would, of course, throw suspicion on the good faith of the British Government, and it is clear that if Britain has made up her mind to go, she might as well go as quickly as she can. But not too far. The boat may begin to rock, but only once the ballast has been removed. Jerusalem, July 18.

Cabinet Discusses
Suez Evacuation

Jerusalem Post Reporter
Among the foreign affairs discussed by the Cabinet at its weekly meeting yesterday, were the questions of the possible evacuation of the Suez Canal Zone by the British and the visit of the Chief of Staff, Rav-Aluf Moshe Dayan, to the U.S. the Government spokesman said last night.

Regulations were approved regarding elections to the Chief Rabbinate Council of Israel, in accordance with the Religious Communities Law. The election date is to be set by the Minister for Religious Affairs. The new regulations cancel the participation of the Jewish Agency in such elections and substitute the phrase "the Minister for Religious Affairs with the approval of the Government" for "the Vaad Leumi," wherever the latter body is mentioned in the Mandatory law. Elections to the Chief Rabbinate Council are expected to take place in the near future. The principle of granting decorations in the Israel Defense Forces was approved, and details are to be worked out by the Ministerial Committee on Legislation. Until now, the award of the Order of the Star of the Awardees of the War of Independence was given to 13 members of the Defense Forces, and the details of the award were stipulated in the War of Liberation.

The Cabinet decided to approve the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Jewish settlement in the U.S. The setting of a delegation to the U.S. to mark the anniversary is being considered. The principle of granting decorations in the Israel Defense Forces was approved, and details are to be worked out by the Ministerial Committee on Legislation. Until now, the award of the Order of the Star of the Awardees of the War of Independence was given to 13 members of the Defense Forces, and the details of the award were stipulated in the War of Liberation.

Egyptian troops were fired upon three times in the last two days in the vicinity of Kufum near the Gaza Strip, the Army spokesman announced yesterday. An Israeli unit patrolling the Israel-Egyptian armistice line near Kufum on Saturday night was fired upon by Egyptian troops. The unit returned the fire. Yesterday morning, fire was again opened from the same Egyptian positions on an Israeli unit patrolling the line. The unit returned the fire. Again shortly before noon yesterday, fire was opened for a third time on an Israeli unit patrolling north of the settlement. The unit returned the fire.

In all three instances, no member of the Israeli units was hurt. Indicators stole 48 metres of aluminium pipes worth IL250 from the fields of Kufum. The unit returned the fire. Again shortly before noon yesterday, fire was opened for a third time on an Israeli unit patrolling north of the settlement. The unit returned the fire.

During the week ending July 14, there were five border incidents and a number of instances of stolen goods, mainly foodstuffs and agricultural equipment. The Cabinet at its weekly meeting discussed various questions of foreign relations. The Foreign Ministry approved regarding elections to the Chief Rabbinate Council of Israel.

Hungarian Floods 'More Serious'

VIENNA, Sunday (Reuters). — The flood situation in Hungary was becoming increasingly serious, Radio Budapest said today. In Budapest, the Danube reached a level of 799 centimetres and was expected to rise during the day to over 800 centimetres. The situation was dangerous as water was beginning to leak through the dykes in many places. In Győr, Hungary's second largest industrial centre, the river had fallen by 28 centimetres, but here, too, the position was serious as the banks were weakening, the radio announced. The town of Komárom was up to 20 centimetres deep in water. During the night the situation at Komárom became worse. In the neighbourhood of Budaörs, vast areas of cultivated land were under water. The floods were most extensive in southern Hungary, just before the Danube reaches the sea.

Sharett Hails
Conference Of Progressives

Jerusalem Post Reporter
NATANYA, Sunday. — An enthusiastic and prolonged ovation greeted Mr. Moshe Sharett, the Prime Minister and Foreign Minister, at tonight's opening of the third conference of the Progressive Party which was attended by 600 delegates representing 20,000 members from all parts of the country. Eventually the Prime Minister had to rise to his feet in order to interrupt the storm of clapping.

In his greeting to the conference, the Prime Minister stated that whatever decision the Progressive Party reached it could be trusted to remain loyal to its special mission. This was founded on quality rather than quantity. The conference hall presented a ceremonial but official atmosphere. The Prime Minister, who came formally dressed, quickly removed his jacket, remarking that he felt sure he was not breaking protocol by so doing. Mr. Moshe Kol, Chairman of the Progressive Party, stated that as the conference convened on the eve of the 50th anniversary of the death of Dr. Theodor Herzl, the great visionary and founder of the World Zionist Organization, his memory would be in everyone's mind. He called to mind a long list of departed Zionist leaders, among them heads of the World Zionist Organization. The audience stood in silence during this portion of the Chairman's address.

Mr. P. Rosen, Minister of Justice, the President of the Progressive Party, gave a review of the Party's progress since its last convention in 1951. In what is regarded as the keynote address, Dr. Nahum Goldmann urged a fusion of forces between the Progressive Party and the General Zionists, with the ultimate aim of merger of the two. Dealing with the proposal of Mr. Ben Gurion for the establishment of a two-party system and a division of the country into constituencies, Dr. Goldmann considered that this was too ambitious a programme and must be implemented in stages. He thought it possible to form two major parties in Israel which would represent the main pillars of the Israeli social and political system. One such pillar is the Mafpey Party, another must be sought in the ranks of the General Zionists and the Progressive Party, he felt.

Dr. Goldmann said that during the last 12 months the Zionist movement had improved, but in the coming months she would be confronted with a political situation which would require a new approach. The problems arising from international difficulties make it necessary for the Zionist movement to take a new approach, particularly in regard to the political parties. Mr. Ben Gurion has an unerring instinct for detecting what is wrong, Dr. Goldmann said, and Mr. Ben Gurion, he was also disturbed by the number of political parties.

Disappearing Zionism
Only a General Zionist organization can form the basis for a healthy Zionist movement in the Diaspora. For that reason, too, it is imperative to have a representative body, Dr. Goldmann concluded. Dr. Israel Goldstein supported Dr. Goldmann's plan and stressed the need for a fusion of the Zionist movement and the Jewish struggle in Israel. In addition to the Prime Minister, were the Speaker of the Knesset, Mr. Joseph Sprinck; the Minister of Police, Mr. Moshe Shitreet; and Mr. M. Namir, Secretary-General of the Histadrut. Distinguished visitors from abroad included Dr. Nahum Goldmann, whose entrance was greeted by the delegates with extended applause. Dr. Goldmann, President of the World Confederation of General Zionists, Mr. A. Gelber, of the Canadian Zionist Organization, Mr. Fred Hoenes, of the United Jewish People's Party, and Mr. A. Topol, also on the platform were Mr. A. Gotsfeld, the Deputy Mayor of Natanya, Mr. Minah of the Jewish Agency, and Mr. A. Gotsfeld, the Deputy Mayor of Natanya, Mr. Minah of the Jewish Agency, and Mr. A. Gotsfeld, the Deputy Mayor of Natanya.

Saudi Arabia Accepts
Buraimi Arbitration

CAIRO, Sunday (Reuters). — The Saudi Arabian Ambassador to Britain, Sheikh Hafes Wahba, said here tonight that an arbitration agreement to settle the Buraimi dispute would be signed in Jeddah next week by the Saudi Arabian Foreign Minister and the British Ambassador. Sheikh Hafes Wahba arrived in Cairo last week from Riyadh where he had reported to King Saud on the results of his conference with the British Foreign Office in London concerning the dispute. He is flying back to London tonight, and the Iraqi and Jordanian envoys.

28 EGYPTIANS JAILED FOR COMMUNISM
CAIRO, Sunday. — The Egyptian authorities today claimed the discovery of yet another clandestine Communist organization with cells in most Egyptian towns. Twenty-three persons have been arrested and a large quantity of subversive literature has been seized.

French Clear Hanoi Supply Roads
HANOI, Sunday. — French infantrymen, backed by artillery and air power, have cleared a road from the city, launched a violent attack from both sides early today. They seemed unaware that strong French tank forces had moved in to support the Vietnamese.

French assaults in the Sonkay area, 40 kilometres west of Hanoi, and in the Loc Nam region, some 70 kms northeast, re-opened large stretches of provincial highways. French trucks are now using these roads to supply garrisons along the northern edge of the French defence line in the Red River Delta. French tanks and Vietnamese national troops today smashed an attack by 800 Vietnamese on the outskirts of Hungien, the town of 10,000 people, 100 kms from Hanoi, on the Red River. Eye witnesses said that at least 100 Vietnamese bodies were found after the battle, and French officers estimated the total Vietnamese dead to be 200. The Vietnamese, who had spotted

Iran Announces Oil Pact,
Rejects USSR Note on Treaties

TEHRAN, Sunday (Reuters). — Dr. Ali Amin, the Persian Minister of Foreign Affairs, today announced that agreement in principle had been reached between Persia and the consortium of oil companies formed to market Persian oil. A separate agreement on the compensation issue between Persia and the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company remained to be finally agreed upon, but Dr. Amin declared that this would take only two days. The eight companies in the consortium are the Anglo-Iranian, Royal Dutch/Shell, the Compagnie Française des Pétroles, the Vacuum Oil Company, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, the Gulf Oil Company and the Texas Company. The eight companies agreed last April in London to set up the consortium to find a way to market Persian oil. It was formerly produced by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. The consortium sent a three-man negotiating mission to Tehran on April 11 to begin the talks. In May, after a deadlock in the talks, the mission returned from Tehran to report that the consortium was in an attempt to satisfy Persia's claim for managerial control of the oil industry. Another question was the amount of oil to be put on the international market. At that time, the figure of 10 million tons a year was suggested. The mission arrived back here on June 20. Mr. Herbert Hoover, Jr., special oil adviser to the President, said tonight that the mission had been successful. Dr. Amin said that the consortium would initially invest $100m. in the Abadan refinery to reactivate it after its three-year shutdown. He said that production in the first year of the agreement would be 13 million tons, in the second year 20 million tons and in the third year 27 million tons. Dr. Amin added that compensation to AIOC would be "very little, much less than expected" — probably less than $20m.

FLEET'S EVENTFUL
VENICE WEEK-END

The Israeli naval flotilla spent a very eventful week-end as they prepared to wind up their current visit in Venice. Special festive prayers were recited in the synagogue on board yesterday, while Italian television services filmed the proceedings. The Venetian Press carried prominent articles and pictures on the visit. On Friday, an Italian naval football team defeated the Israeli team 2-1. The flotilla's commander, Aluf-Mishne Shimon Erel, held a farewell reception aboard ship for the Jewish Community in Venice. The flotilla will depart this morning for Split, Yugoslavia. CO-EDUCATION IN RUSSIA
LONDON, Sunday (Reuters). — Russia is re-introducing co-education in Moscow, Leningrad and other Soviet towns, TASS reported today. It will take effect from the start of the school year starting in September. Boys and girls will study together in the first nine grades, according to TASS. Co-education for these in the 10th (top) grade of secondary schools during the coming school-year. The TASS report made no mention of the position in rural areas nor did it specify in which other towns co-education will be applied. Co-education was in force in Soviet cities during the thirties but was abandoned in the early part of World War II.

All 3 Balkan States
Urge Pact Signature

ANKARA, Sunday (Reuters). — A new date for the signing of the Turco-Yugoslav-Greek Alliance is to be set very shortly, sources close to the Turkish Foreign Ministry here today. The pact, which was signed in Ankara last night, was the result of a meeting between the three foreign ministers, which was held in Ankara, and had been unable to leave for Yugoslavia as scheduled. This, it was claimed, was the only reason for the delay. Diplomatic quarters had suggested earlier that Turkey had caused the delay in signing at the prompting of the Western powers who wanted to solve the Trieste dispute first. In Belgrade, President Tito stated today in a message to the Greek Premier, Marshal Churchill, that he was not completely convinced that the postponement had been necessary. He expressed concern about the formation of the Balkan Alliance as the three nations were becoming "too independent." The Yugoslav newspaper "Politika" claimed today that the Western powers wished to control the formation of the Balkan Alliance as the three nations were becoming "too independent." Hundreds of allied-trained civil police stood poised around each demonstration ready to crush any disturbance and to prevent the two mobs from clashing. There were no incidents.

RIVAL RALLIES IN TRIESTE
TRIESTE, Sunday (UPI). — Communist and neo-Fascist crowds demonstrated on opposite sides of Trieste today against the partitioning of the Free Territory between Yugoslavia and Italy. Hundreds of allied-trained civil police stood poised around each demonstration ready to crush any disturbance and to prevent the two mobs from clashing. There were no incidents.

US Agrees to Back
Acceptable Peace

GENEVA, Sunday. — The U.S. today pledged itself to refrain from a show of force to upset any Indo-China armistice agreement made here which it could support, authoritative sources said tonight.

Tunisia, Morocco
To Get 'New Deal'

GENEVA, Sunday (Reuters). — M. Christian Fouchet, French Minister for Moroccan and Tunisian Affairs, flew here from Paris today to report to M. Pierre Mendès-France, the Prime Minister, on the troubled situation in France's North African Protectorates. M. Mendès-France has been pushing ahead with plans for a "new deal" policy in Tunisia and Morocco despite his preoccupation with the drive to get a quick Indo-China cease-fire agreement. But terrorists and counter-terrorists have caused a new wave of disturbances in Tunisia while final details of the policy are being worked out. Ministry sources in Paris said yesterday that M. Mendès-France had almost completed his reform programme and would announce it in the next few days. A regiment of 1,500 French soldiers sailed from Marseille to Tunis today to strengthen the anti-terrorist security guard. The men will reinforce the paratroopers and soldiers who have already been transferred to Tunisia. An Italian blacksmith was killed by a volley of pistol shots in the Arab quarter of Sousse today. Last night, the Tunisian railway line was blown up by saboteurs. In Casablanca, last night, terrorists blew up a Moslem tobacco shop in the native quarter. Two Moroccans inside the shop were injured. Moroccan Moslems have called for an end to smoking and "other Western habits."

Chou and Charlie

GENEVA, Sunday (Reuters). — The Chinese Prime Minister and Foreign Minister, Mr. Chou En-lai, was given a dinner here tonight in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin, a Chinese spokesman said. The Communist delegation has warned that an Indo-China settlement which would leave North Vietnam to the Vietnamese. The U.S. for its part, had refused to sign any agreement which would leave North Vietnam to the Vietnamese. Mr. Chou En-lai stated that if an agreement were reached which the U.S. could not then his Government would be prepared to issue a unilateral statement in which it would announce that the U.S. Government would refrain from the threat or the use of force to upset the agreement. He said that his Government has never sought to impose its views on the parties primarily concerned. The U.S. would regard any renewal of aggression or violation of an armistice agreement reached here as a matter of "prime concern," he added. The Vietnamese Foreign Minister, Mr. Tran Van Do, said that Vietnam must dissociate itself from the proceedings of the conference because the proposed settlement would constitute partition of its country. Authoritative sources revealed that Mr. Tran had charged the conference with showing insufficient respect for the unity and independence of Vietnam. He said that he would have to await further instructions from his Government about the negotiations.

SEATO Study
Group Reports

LONDON, Sunday (Reuters). — The Anglo-American study group working in Washington on plans for a South-East Asia Collective Defence Pact has completed its work and is reporting to the two Governments, according to official quarters here. The group was set up following the visit of Sir Winston Churchill to President Eisenhower at the end of June. Its task was to draw up alternative plans for a security pact for South-East Asia, depending on the success or failure of the Geneva talks. The group's report was presented to the two Governments. The report stated that the pact should be based on the principle of collective defence and should be open to all countries in the area. It should be based on the principle of collective defence and should be open to all countries in the area. It should be based on the principle of collective defence and should be open to all countries in the area.
